Between 1841 and 1851, Ireland's population decreased by approximately 20-25%, a staggering loss driven by death and emigration. The atlas graphically depicts this decline through comparative population maps.

Migration and Emigration

The famine prompted a massive outflow of Irish emigrants, primarily to North America, Australia, and Britain. The atlas traces these migration routes, highlighting ports like Cork and Belfast as key departure points.

Social and Cultural Effects

The demographic shifts altered Irish society profoundly. Many rural communities were decimated or transformed, and the cultural landscape was impacted by the loss of population and traditional ways of life.

Famine Relief Efforts and Government Response

Charitable and Government Initiatives

Various relief efforts were undertaken, including workhouses, soup kitchens, and public works. The atlas maps these interventions, showing their geographic distribution and effectiveness.
