As a result, their culinary practices evolved around preservation methods such as smoking, fermenting, pickling, and drying to ensure food availability year-round.

Traditional Techniques and Preservation

Preservation was not merely a necessity but also a culinary art that shaped flavor profiles and textures. For example:

- Fermentation: used to create products like surströmming (fermented herring) and Icelandic hákarl (fermented shark).
- Smoking: imparted distinct smoky flavors to fish and meats.
- Pickling: extended shelf life and introduced tangy elements.
